Westerly Druggist Pleads Not Guilty

Ihos. J. Eannon Furnishes Bonds of $1000—Proof of Wood Alcohol Poisoning in Stomach of Daniel Sullivan—Attorney General Orders Inquest—Residents of Annexed District to Secure Adequate Fire Protection.

Dr. J. Howard Morgan, medical examiner for the town of Westery, who made the Daniel Sullivan post-mortem examination, assisted by Dr. Scanton, and who sent the stomach to Professor Whitney, together with the small amount of whiskey left in the bottle from which Sullivan drank, for analysis, received the result from the professor, Tuesday. There was about a teaspoonful of the whiskey left in the bottle, and Professor Whitney found that the stomach largely made up of (methy) alcohol, and the tests of the contents of the stomach showed the presence of wood alcohol. The post-mortem examination showed chronic interstitial nephritis, or infection of the kidneys. In the opinion of Dr. Morgan there were two causes for the death of Mr. Sullivan, wood alcohol and chronic nephritis.

In the analysis of liquor and stomach in the William D. Perrin case, Professor Whitney found no wood alcohol.

Being of the opinion that the whiskey drunk by Mr. Sullivan just prior to his death came from Pierce street or vicinity, Chief Bransfield made liquor raids upon three places, securing liquor in two of the raids and, however, that he was on the right trail and succeeded in getting an affidavit to the effect that the whiskey that probably caused the death of Mr. Sullivan was procured from John Cicco of Pierce street. It is further stated that Cicco bought the whiskey from a Main street drug store. The death of Mr. Sullivan is the only one in Westery thus far for which there is any basis for belief that it was caused by "poisonous whiskey." There is some presumption, based on Coroner Brown's investigation, that the deaths of L. D. Doherty and perhaps Patti, in Pawcatuck, were due to that cause.

It having been officially determined that Daniel Sullivan probably died of alcohol poisoning, Attorney General Greenough ordered Everett Kingsley, coroner for the town of Westery, to hold an inquest to ascertain the facts and the cause of the death of Mr. Sullivan and if possible to place the responsibility. Coroner Kingsley will hold the inquest in the Town hall today (Thursday).

The Westery public library has in addition to its large circulation and general reference departments, a collection of pamphlets and documents of considerable value which are being bound for preservation. Among the volumes is the "History of the Town of Westery," by Charles H. Smith, published in 1897, and "The History of the Town of Westery," by James Franklin, published in 1897. It is a volume of 228 pages, including index, and the monetary value placed upon the same by the Social Law Library of Boston is $200.

On page 20 of the volume is a "Law made and sent by the General Assembly of His Majesty's Colony of Rhode Island and Providence Plantations, held at Newport, the first day of May, 1682."

An Act for Erecting a Township in the Narragansett Country, to be called Westery.

Whereas, the inhabitants of a certain Tract of Land in the Narragansett Country, called and known by the name of Miquamauk, alias Pawcatuck, Bounded Westery on the Colony, and Southernly on the Sea, have petitioned this Assembly to be incorporated into a Township; and there being a sufficient number of inhabitants already settled thereon, and Land convenient for the same.

Be it Therefore Enacted by the General Assembly, and by the Authority of the same, That the aforesaid Tract of Land, and it hereby is incorporated a Township, and called by the Name of Westery; and the Inhabitants thereof shall have, enjoy all the Rights, Immunities, Privileges and Powers, as other Towns in this Colony have and do Enjoy.

The second volume was published in 1744, fourteen years after the first volume, and was printed in Newport by Widow Franklin. This publication is valued by the Social Law Library at $150.

Another recently bound volume, and valued at $100, is the Minutes of the Stonington Baptist Association, beginning with 1722.

Nora B. James petitioned for permission to sell for the benefit of her minor children, Frank E. and Gilbert H. James, one-quarter interest in a piece of property valued at $150. The petition was granted and order issued allowing the sale at not less than the price named. Bonds were fixed at $600.

The will of Hannah Collins McCort was admitted to probate in continuation from Tuesday's session. Charles Perry was confirmed as executor and bonds were fixed at $2,500. Everett E. Whipple, Thomas Perry and Eugene H. Peterson were appointed as appraisers.

Residents in the annexed Westery fire district, not satisfied with the action of the annual meeting which rejected the proposition to furnish efficient fire alarm service in the added section, although required to pay the regular tax, have decided to call of a special meeting next Wednesday evening. It is proposed to get what they term a square deal, and will favor a resolution authorizing the borrowing of a sufficient sum of money to properly equip the new section of the district with adequate fire alarm system.

The members of the Weavers' Textile union employed at the Lorraine mill, in Pawcatuck, quit work Wednesday noon, their action causing the idleness of the loom fixers, and resulting in about 135 employees leaving the mill. The cause of the trouble is the discharge of James Sisson and the refusal of Superintendent Melkie to reinstate him.

Sisson was collector for the union and it was his custom to collect ten cents weekly from the members, which he did during regular working hours. To this the superintendent objected and told Sisson two weeks ago that the practice must be discontinued. Sisson reported the circumstances to a meeting of the union and he was authorized to continue the practice and that he would be backed by the union. Monday the superintendent saw Sisson collecting during working hours, in violation of his order, and discharged Sisson.

At a meeting of the union, Monday evening, a committee was appointed to request the superintendent to permit Sisson to return to work, assuring him that there would be no more collection of dues during working hours. The superintendent refused, declaring that Sisson would not be permitted to return to work in the mill under any consideration. The members went to work as usual Wednesday morning and made another unsuccessful effort to have Sisson reinstated, and at noon they quit work.

Frank Buck was arrested in Ashaway by Constable Charles F. Eeselesten Wednesday afternoon for the theft of a bicycle. He was brought to Westery in the evening and arraigned before Judge Williams of the Third district court. Buck was found guilty and fined $10 and costs. He could not pay and was committed to the Washington county jail.

The Westery High school baseball team played a lively game with the Rhode Island college sophomores nine on the Voss grounds Wednesday afternoon, winning by a score of 5 to 2. The opposing team is representative of the college and is composed of the best material in the institution.
